

Ask The Kitchen Guy Blog

November 30, 2012

“Q: Dear Kitchen Guy: I would like to buy gift for friends of mine that are real “Foodies”, what do you suggest?

A: I can offer you two must have items for anyone serious about cooking. These products are top of their respective classes and Made in America.

Must Have Item One:

Any serious foodie must have high quality cutlery. I recommend CUTCO Cutlery. I believe it is as good as any cutlery made in the world. Here are some of the benefits to buying CUTCO Cutlery.

- Free Lifetime Sharpening Service, (there is a $6.00 or $9:00 S&H fee) depending on your location they will either come to your home or you can send it to the factory. Turnaround is quick. For more details see <http://www.cutco.com/customer/sharpening.jsp>
- FOREVER Guarantee, follow this link for details:
<http://www.cutco.com/customer/guarantee.jsp?ref=f>
- Quality and American Made.
<http://www.cutco.com/company/made-in-america.jsp>
- Buying Made Easy: The local representative Ari Aberman is a great guy you can call him at (773) 458-0411 to arrange your purchases or go to his web page at CUTCO
www.CutcoAri.com

Must Have Item Two:

Epicurean Cutting Boards, I have wrote about these products here before and talked about them on the Mighty House Radio show too. Here are some of the benefits to buying Epicurean Cutting Boards.

- Unlike other cutting boards made from wood Epicurean's cutting boards are dishwasher safe and store much easier than bulky competitor's offerings.
- Their primary material is made with multiple layers of Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) certified wood fibers, compressed with a food-safe resin.
- They also have a new line of Eco Plastic products that utilizes 100% post-consumer recycled milk jugs.
- For a full product offering go to www.epicureancs.com They have something for everyone's budget.
- All of our products are made in America.